Steubenville Shirt Designs

Steubenville is a retreat some of the youth at my church go to every summer. I have had the privilege to design the shirt for the retreat starting my senior year of high school and it is a project I continue to work on every year. I use the retreat's new logo for the current year as inspiration for the overall design and incorporate the logo into the design as well. I also asked some of the youth attending that year what color shirts they would like to further help create the designs in Illustrator. I then come up with four different options and at the meeting prior to the trip the youth vote on which one they would like to be that year's design.

Prom Invitations

This is a project I did at Tri Star for the St. Mary's prom. I worked on this with a fellow classmate and this is what was actually used for their invitations. We needed to create something around the theme of A New York State of Mind. We fell in love with the photo but needed to find a way to make it readable. So we added a clipping mask of a blurred version of the photo made in Photoshop in the center to allow a softer background for the verbiage.

Friends of the NRA banquet program

I began doing this project freshman year of college to help out my friends on the committee and to gain practice with clients on a smaller level. I used the layout and design of the previous year and corrected information as well as neatened up a bit for the first year as I had limited time. However, each year since I have kept adding and rearranging until I have gotten to the point that I like. I now just need to input new info into the Illustrator file each year and every few years update the style.

National Anthem

Oh, say can you see by the dawn's early light
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there,
Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?
